

A New Generation in FDI Advisory Services

Corporate Site Selection - Significant Cost Saver or Costly Failure?

Have you ever wondered about the complexities involved in a corporate relocation or expansion project?

Join us now for this important webinar held on Thursday 16:00 - 17:00 PM CET April 14. All applicants signing up before April 7 will be admitted as our guest.

Why You Should Join:

Relocating business activities across borders impact corporate footprints and supply chains, require significant investments, and therefore is considered a high business risk.

Recent series of events in the MENA region, and the devastating earthquake and tsunami in Japan are just two examples of significant disruptive forces structurally changing business climates. We will discuss best practices in terms of benchmarking different investment locations, and outline which business intelligence we normally use in our site selection projects.

Have you thought of exit tax implications with your proposed relocations? No...? Rudolf Sinx, partner at TPA-Global, will showcase you what tax implications you need to take into account when you decide to relocate any of your corporate business activities.

Only an integrated project approach including a solid benchmark analysis with special attention for supply chain factors and tax implications will avoid your corporate relocation turning into a costly failure.
